Leaving At the End Of 2017

If you believe that your child/ren may be leaving Camelot Rise at the end of 2017 (and not as a Grade 6 student), please let us know. Obviously, we do not want to see you go but understand changes in family circumstances; therefore, your early notification really will assist us with planning for next year.

Goodbye...

Term 4 is extremely busy for our school community. If parents need to see Peter Mills (Assistant Principal) or myself to discuss any concerns, please call the school on 9803 5344 and an appointment time can be made or alternatively come to the school office for an appointment time to also be made.

Have a great week.

Assistant Principal's Report

Victorian Curriculum - English

This year has seen Camelot Rise transition successfully from the previous curriculum framework, AusVELS, to the new Victorian Curriculum. During 2017, in previous newsletter pieces, I have been including summaries of the different Learning Areas and Capabilities that make up the Victorian Curriculum. With the end of year reports due to parents in just six weeks' time, and having already included a piece on the Mathematics curriculum in the lead up to the mid-year reports, I feel that it is an appropriate time to provide some details to parents regarding the English learning area.

The English curriculum aims to ensure that students:

- learn to listen to, read, view, speak, write, create and reflect on increasingly complex and sophisticated spoken, written and multimodal texts across a growing range of contexts with accuracy, fluency and purpose
- appreciate, enjoy and use the English language in all its variations and develop a sense of its richness and power to evoke feelings, convey information, form ideas, facilitate interaction with others, entertain, persuade and argue
- understand how Standard Australian English works in its spoken and written forms and in combination with non-linguistic forms of communication to create meaning
- develop interest and skills in inquiring into the aesthetic aspects of texts, and develop an informed appreciation of literature.

The English curriculum is organised by language modes and strands.

Language Modes

The language modes are inter-related and the learning in one often supports and extends learning of the others. Each content description has been placed in the mode that is the major focus of its learning. Classroom contexts that address particular content descriptions will necessarily draw on more than one of these modes in order to support students' learning. For example, students will learn new vocabulary through listening and reading and apply their knowledge and understanding in their speaking and writing as well as in their comprehension of both spoken and written texts.

Reading and Viewing

Reading and Viewing involves students understanding, interpreting, critically analysing, reflecting upon, and enjoying written and visual, print and non-print texts. It encompasses reading and viewing a wide range of texts and media, including literary texts. Reading involves active engagement with texts and the development of knowledge about the relationship between them and the contexts in which they are created. It also involves the development of knowledge about a range of strategies for reading.

Writing

Writing involves students in the active process of conceiving, planning, composing, editing and publishing a range of texts. Writing involves using appropriate language for particular purposes or occasions, both formal and informal, to express and represent ideas and experiences, and to reflect on these aspects. It involves the development of knowledge about strategies for writing and the conventions of Standard Australian English. Students develop a metalanguage to discuss language conventions and use.

Speaking and Listening

Speaking and Listening refers to the various formal and informal ways oral language is used to convey and receive meaning. It involves the development and demonstration of knowledge about the appropriate oral language for particular audiences and occasions, including body language and voice. It also involves the development of active-listening strategies and an understanding of the conventions of different spoken texts. Within each Language mode, the content descriptions are grouped into strands and sub-strands as per the diagram set out below:

CONTENT STRANDS	CONTENT SUB - STRANDS	MODES
Language Knowledge about the English language	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Language Variation and Change</li> <li>Language for Interaction</li> <li>Text Structure and Organisation</li> <li>Expressing and Developing Ideas</li> <li>Phonics and Word Knowledge</li> </ul>	Reading and Viewing	Writing	Speaking and Listening
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Literature and Context</li> <li>Responding to Literature</li> <li>Examining Literature</li> <li>Creating Literature</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Text in Context</li> <li>Interacting with Others</li> <li>Interpreting, Analysing and Evaluating</li> <li>Creating Texts</li> </ul>

Compass Kiosk has arrived at Camelot Rise PS

As part of our growing association with our school management system Compass, we have today installed a new Compass Kiosk to the office area. This kiosk has many features that will assist parents and visitors to the school. Visitors can sign in and alert who they are visiting, parents can sign students directly in or out of school as approved via the kiosk. You will no longer have to utilise the paper based process with the exception of the pink and green cards to be handed to the teacher on arrive and departure.

Walk to School is back

Every October, Walk to School encourages Victorian primary school kids to walk, ride or scoot to and from school. It's a great way to help students earn healthy habits and achieve the recommended 60 minutes of physical activity, every day.

Along with the health benefits, active travel options to and from school reduces traffic congestion, save on parking and helps the environment. Therefore, it is great for the entire school community.
