National Support Staff Week 14th – 18th August 2017

This week is National Support Staff Week; it is a week to acknowledge the enormous contribution our support team play in the learning of our students at Camelot Rise PS. There are many ways they help us all whether it be working with individuals or groups of students in classrooms and in specialists areas, helping us on yard duty, working in our main office helping parents, teachers and students, taking lunchtime activities, coaching us in particular sports or by helping to develop our Art skills just to name a few things.

There is certainly a lot that all these staff do behind the scenes as well. We would like to thank Andy, Catherine, Christine, Deb, Fiona, Jo, Kerryn, Monique and Sue for the wonderful job they do.

One of our teaching staff Lani Burgess does a fantastic job as their Team Leader. A huge thank you to Lani for the efforts she puts in working and leading this team.

This Thursday the staff will celebrate with a nice morning tea.

Illness

There are a number of viruses and illnesses going around our school. If your child is unwell, please keep them home to rest and recuperate.

Obviously, we would like all of the children attending school as often as they can, however no-one learns very well when they are ill and there is a high risk that they will pass their illness on to other students.

So if you recognise that your child isn't well please make appropriate arrangements for them to stay at home.

Scholastic Book Fair

The Book Fair starts on Friday morning in the library. Purchasing books from our Book Fair helps our school. Once the final total of money raised is determined, we are then given a certain percentage to buy books for our school library or classroom libraries. So please come along and support the Book Fair which also coincides with Book Week.

Medications

From time to time students will be required to take an antibiotic or other medication.

Where three daily doses are required, please consider the middle dose being taken as soon as your child gets home from school. If this is not possible, please remember that any medications sent to school needs to be sent to the office with a completed medication form signed from your doctor (available from the school website or the school office) and in the original packaging. Office staff will then administer this medication at the required time. Medications will not be administered unless accompanied by the signed medical form.

Please remember my door is always open and I am available whether you are able to make it to the school or not. Email me at thomas.helen.h@edumail.vic.gov.au or call the school on 9803 5344 and ask to speak with me. I'm happy to talk on the spot if I am available or to make an appointment/phone call at another time.

Have a great week.

Victorian Curriculum – Personal & Social Capabilities

In Australia and amongst other developed countries, contemporary school curriculum has evolved and broadened to include not only a focus on traditional subject content, but also the inclusion of aspects of learning, including higher order thinking, ethics, diversity and intercultural understandings and social and emotional learning.

In our own state school system, the recently introduced Victorian Curriculum sets out what every student should learn during their first eleven years of schooling. In doing so, it offers a curriculum that presents as being significantly different (as well as being experienced significantly differently by students and teachers) to the curriculum that was implemented 10 or even 5 years ago, let alone the school system we engaged in during the 70's, 80's and 90's. These changes reflect the learning needs of students, in our ever changing world.

A significant part of the Victorian Curriculum is the establishment of the Capabilities. These Capabilities, which are a set of discrete knowledge and skills that can and should be taught explicitly in and through the Learning Areas (subjects). The four capabilities in the Victorian Curriculum are:

- Critical and Creative Thinking
- Ethical
- Intercultural
- Personal and Social

The remainder of this will be focus on the Personal and Social Capability, which is organised into two strands: Self-Awareness and Management and Social Awareness and Management. The intent with the Personal and Social Capability curriculum, is for students to focus on understanding their identity, express their emotions and navigate different types of relationships, including working collaboratively with other students.

Personal relationships, including an understanding of the importance of establishing and maintaining respectful relationship, supports students and helps prepare them to face challenges with resilience and confidence.

Rationale

The Personal and Social Capability is essential in enabling students to understand themselves and others, and manage their relationships, lives, work and learning more effectively. The capability involves students learning to recognise and regulate emotions, develop empathy for others and understand relationships, establish and build a framework for positive relationships, work effectively in teams and develop leadership skills, and handle challenging situations constructively.

The Personal and Social Capability supports students in becoming creative and confident individuals with a sense of self-worth, self-awareness and personal identity that enables them to manage their emotional, mental, spiritual and physical wellbeing, with a sense of hope and optimism about their lives and the future. On a social level, it helps students to form and maintain healthy relationships and prepares them for their potential life roles as family, community and workforce members.

Aims

The Personal and Social Capability curriculum aims to develop knowledge, understandings and skills to enable students to:

- recognise, understand and evaluate the expression of emotions
- demonstrate an awareness of their personal qualities and the factors that contribute to resilience
- develop empathy for and understanding of others and recognise the importance of supporting diversity for a cohesive community
- understand how relationships are developed and use interpersonal skills to establish and maintain respectful relationships
- work effectively in teams and develop strategies to manage challenging situations constructively

America's Oldest School House

During my recent trip to the USA, I had the opportunity to visit that country's oldest school house, in the historical city of St. Augustine, on the east coast of Florida. The School House dates back to the early 18th century (C. 1716). Displayed on the wall of the school house was a copy of the 'Rules for Teachers'. When it comes to employment conditions for teachers, clearly a lot has changed since 1872.

1872 RULES FOR TEACHERS

1. Teachers each day will fill lamps, clean chimneys.
2. Each teacher will bring a bucket of water and a scuttle of coal for the day's session.
3. Make your pens carefully. You may whittle nibs to the individual taste of the pupils.
4. Men teachers may take one evening each week for courting purposes, or two evenings a week if they go to church regularly.
5. After ten hours in school, the teachers may spend the remaining time reading the Bible or other good books.
6. Women teachers who marry or engage in unseemly conduct will be dismissed.
7. Every teacher should lay aside from each day's pay a goodly sum of his earnings for his benefit during his declining years so that he will not become a burden on society.
8. Any teacher who smokes, uses liquor in any form, frequents pool or public halls, or gets shaved in a barber shop will give good reason to suspect his worth, intention, integrity and honesty.
9. The teacher who performs his labor faithfully and without fault for five years will be given an increase of twenty-five cents per week in his pay, providing the Board of Education approves.

Each year across Australia, the Children’s Book Council of Australia (CBCA) brings children and books together celebrating CBCA Children’s Book Week. During this time schools, libraries, booksellers, authors, illustrators and children celebrate Australian children’s literature.

To celebrate Children’s Book Week at Camelot Rise we are holding the Scholastic Book Fair and the following events.

Windows into other worlds:

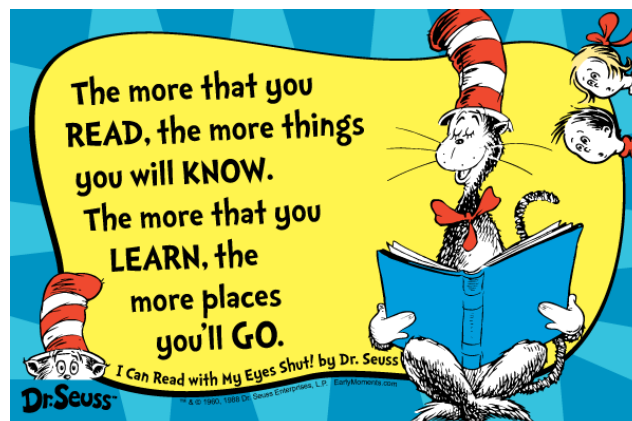

Create a window into your favourite fiction land or realm:

- You will need to get an A3 template from Wendy Punay in 3P
- This can be completed as a family or as an individual
- Illustrate or write about world from a book you’ve read which helps you to ‘Escape to Everywhere’
- Submit this to your child’s class teacher by Friday 18th August

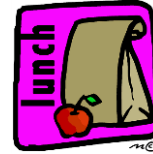

Story Telling:

- We would love family and friends of Camelot Rise to volunteer to visit and read a picture story book to a class – it could be related to the theme ‘Escape to Everywhere’ or could simply be a favourite or well-loved book
- Please contact your child’s teacher and let him/her know:
 - the title of the book you would like to read
 - approximately how long the story will take to read
 - days and times you are available between 19th and 26th August
- Class teachers will confirm a day/time and create a class time table for story telling

So let’s keep reading because as Dr Seuss said:
